

Third Grade Summer Reading Project

Students are to make a portrait based on one of the characters from their summer reading log. They can choose what size. Students may use whatever materials they'd like (ex. poster board, construction paper, markers, crayons, etc.)

Students also need to include a short paragraph about the character. They need to give a few details about the character. For example, they could include what they look like, important things about the person, where they live, etc. It's totally up to them what they want to tell about the character. The portrait and paragraph are due the first week of school. Be creative! 😊
